

CONTRIBUTOR NOTES

SARAH BORDEN is an assistant professor of Philosophy at Wheaton College. She earned her Ph.D. in philosophy at Fordham University and is the author of Edith Stein (London: Continuum, 2003) in the series Outstanding Christian Thinkers.

DON BRIEL holds the Koch Chair in Catholic Studies and directs the Center for Catholic Studies at the University of St. Thomas. He is the general editor of The Works of Christopher Dawson, Catholic University of America Press.

MARIAN E. CROWE has a Ph.D. in English from the University of Notre Dame, where she specialized in Victorian fiction and religion and literature. She taught at Notre Dame as an adjunct Assistant Professor for thirteen years and is currently a Visiting Scholar in the Program of Liberal Studies. She has published articles in The New Oxford Review, Commonweal, America, Crisis, Christianity and Literature, and Renascence.

JAMES KEATING is Professor of Moral Theology in the School of Theology at the Pontifical College Josephinum, Columbus, Ohio and Editor of the Josephinum Journal of Theology. He received his Ph.D. in Roman Catholic Theology from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Some of his more than fifty essays on Christian ethics and spirituality have appeared in Downside Review, Modern Theology, Irish Theological Quarterly, Communio, Pro Ecclesia, and New Blackfriars, among others. His latest book, co-authored with Dennis Billy is The Way of Mystery: Eucharist and Moral Living (Paulist Press, 2005).

WALTER F. KEDJERSKI was ordained a priest of the Diocese of Rockville Centre in 2002. He currently serves at St. Catherine of Sienna Parish, Franklin Square, New York. He received his M.A. in Theology and M.Div. from the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception, Huntington, New York, and has published articles in Rite and Homiletic & Pastoral Review.

PETER A. KWASNIEWSKI teaches philosophy and theology at the International Theological Institute for Studies on Marriage and the Family in Gaming, Austria. He received his B.A. from Thomas Aquinas College and his Ph.D. in Philosophy from The Catholic University of America. His great musical loves are Gregorian chant, Renaissance polyphony, Bruckner, and Arvo Pärt.

JOHN A. LINDBLOM received his M.A. in China Studies from the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies at the University of Washington—Seattle. He has been an English teacher in Washington State and in Sichuan Province, China, and has written on Pope John Paul's influence on Catholic young adults for the Catholic Northwest Progress. He is currently studying Chinese at Tsinghua University in Beijing.

R. JAMES LONG is a professor of Philosophy at Fairfield University, and President of the Society for Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy. He is also the general editor of the Fishacre project at the Bavarian Academy of Sciences. He has authored more than fifty articles and book chapters, and wrote or edited several books. His edition of book two of Richard Fishacre's Sentences-Commentary is at the press.

PAUL MURRAY, O.P., is professor of Spiritual Theology at the Angelicum University in Rome and Spiritual Director at the Convitto Internazionale S. Tommaso. Among his theological publications are The Mysticism Debate (1977), T. S. Eliot and Mysticism (1991), and Preachers at Prayer (2004). He has also published four books of poetry, one of which was awarded Poetry Ireland Choice. His most recent volume of poetry is titled These Black Stars (2003).