English (ENGL)

Mikolajczak (chair), An, Bellamy, Bouwman, Callaway, Challakere, Chowdhury, Choy, Craft-Fairchild, Erdrich, Friscaro, Garritano, Jordan, Larson, Lawrence, MacKenzie, L. Miller, R. Miller, Muse, O'Reilly, Otto, Piorkowski, Powell, Redshaw, Reichardt, Ringnald, Scheiber, Scheurer, Warren

The aims of the department are to:

- help students develop maturity in thinking, reading, and writing;
- extend to all interested students, regardless of their major, the opportunity for the self-enrichment which a study of language and literature affords;
- provide students with a solid foundation for graduate study in English and other professional fields such as law and medicine, the teaching of English in secondary and middle schools, and all careers that emphasize analysis and communication.

To attain these goals, the programs outlined below focus on different methodologies and approaches to the study of language, literature, and writing while allowing students to pursue areas of particular interest.

The Department of English offers three emphases.

1. The general major that allows students to take a variety of literature courses and to incorporate writing and cultural studies into their programs.
2. The writing emphasis that combines a foundation of literary study with a sequence of writing courses focused on poetry, fiction, and literary nonfiction, or on a range of nonfiction prose forms, including analytical, persuasive, and academic writing.
3. The Minnesota teacher licensure program in Communication Arts and Literature that prepares students for teaching elementary, middle, and secondary school. This program requires courses in linguistics, literature, writing, and writing pedagogy. It requires, therefore, early and careful planning. Students completing this program may complete a major in English.

Students graduating with a major in English will be able to write thoughtfully about literature and life, in forms that range from engaged responses, to close readings of primary texts, to critical papers using secondary resources. They will understand and practice writing as a process that involves substantial revision and be able to reflect thoughtfully upon the writing process that works best for them. They will be able to read sophisticated literary works with imagination and intelligence and will be able to respond critically to their empathic, ethical, and aesthetic dimensions.

The Major in English and the Major in English with Writing Emphasis consist of 44-credits each. ENGL 111 and 112 students fulfill either major by taking nine additional upper-level courses, while ENGL 190 students fulfill either major by taking ten additional upper-level courses.

The department offers courses for non-majors to fulfill the Literature and Writing component of the core curriculum and the Human Diversity requirement.

English Honor Society

Sigma Tau Delta, the national English honor society, formed a chapter at St. Thomas in 1988. The honor society brings together students and faculty with a love of literature, language and writing; it sponsors a variety of scholarships, holds regional and national conventions, and provides a forum for both creative and critical writing. Students who have a grade point average of at least 3.0 in English courses, rank at least in the highest 35 percent of their class in general scholarship, and who have completed at least three semesters of college are eligible to apply for membership.
