

CommUNITY Series

2009

Building a Socially and Intellectually Conscious Community

All events are free and open to the public.

Multicultural Student Services Fall Community Dialogue

Nov. 5, 2009 • 6:30-8 p.m. • McNeely Hall, Room 100 • St. Paul Campus

Melisa Rivière is a MacArthur Scholar Ph.D. candidate in the Anthropology Department at the University of Minnesota who will present her research on the global diffusion of the four elements of hip-hop in Cuba and Puerto Rico. Sponsored by Multicultural Student Services.

For more information: <http://www.stthomas.edu/multiculturalservices/>

Veterans Leadership Academy

Nov. 10, 2009 • 1-3 p.m. • St. Paul Campus

Participants will learn about what types of issues veterans may face, how they may experience the UST culture and how each of us can create an inclusive environment for them to succeed. Sponsored by the Human Resources-Leadership Academy. For more information: https://hrcrm.stthomas.edu/public_site/

“Theory of Mind” A Production Performed by Mixed Blood Theatre

Nov. 10, 2009 • 7 p.m. • OEC Auditorium • St. Paul Campus

“I always try to act normal but my normal isn’t normal.” This is a sensitive yet unsentimental performance portraying a young man with Asperger’s Syndrome. The performance provides an insightful look at tugs, shifts and about-faces found on the autism spectrum. Sponsored by the Enhancement Program – Disability Services and the Office of Institutional Diversity.

For more information: <http://www.stthomas.edu/enhancementprog/>

Celebrating Native American Heritage Month

Nov. 12, 2009 • 12:15-1:15 p.m. • OEC Auditorium • St. Paul Campus

This exciting celebration will feature a performance by the Native Pride Dancers, directed by Larry Yazzie (Meskwaki/Dine). Larry Yazzie is an International Lecturer, Educator, Performer and a World Champion Fancy Dancer. Food will be served. Sponsored by Multicultural Student Services.

For more information: <http://www.stthomas.edu/multiculturalservices/>