

Elizabeth A. Harry

Education

- Ph.D. Comparative History, Brandeis University, 1999
Dissertation: “ ‘For What Did We Shed Workers’ Blood?’ ”
(A study of the early Soviet state; Gregory Freeze, advisor)
- M.A. Comparative History, Brandeis University, 1990
Seminar, Boston Psychoanalytic Society and Institute, 1989-1990
Intensive Russian Language Study, Middlebury College, 1989
- B.A. History and German, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1983
Senior Year Abroad, Albert-Ludwigs Universität, Freiburg im Breisgau, Germany

Areas of Specialization

Modern Russian and German Political and Social History
Modern World History
History of Revolution
Problem of Modernity

Professional Experience

- 2003-present University of St. Thomas, St. Paul, MN
Courses:
History of the Modern World since 1550
Origins of the Modern World to 1550
- Fall 2007 North Hennepin Community College, Brooklyn Park, MN
Courses:
History of World Civilization post 1500
History of the United States after 1877
- 2001-2003 Metropolitan State University, St. Paul, MN
Courses:
World History I: Patterns of Civilization, to 1500
The Rise and Fall of Communism
- 1998-2002 Anoka-Ramsey Community College, Coon Rapids, MN
Courses on Campus:
Modern World Civilizations I (1500-1870)
Modern World Civilizations II (1870-present)
Ancient and Medieval World History
World Revolutions
Contemporary World History
Introduction to Asian Civilizations
Courses Online:
Modern World Civilizations I (1500-1870)
Modern World Civilizations II (1870-present)
- 1989-1990 Teaching Assistant, Department of Comparative History
Brandeis University, Waltham, MA
Courses:
An Intellectual History of Modern Europe and America
History of the Family

Publications

- Permanent Revolution: A Study of the Early Soviet State*. Minnesota Mediterranean and East European Monographs. Minneapolis: University of Minnesota, Modern Greek Studies (forthcoming).
- “Petitioners and Their Discontents: The Lost Generation of the 1920s.” The NEP Era Journal 2 (2008): 61-80.
- Review of Barry McLoughlin, Left to the Wolves: Irish Victims of Stalinist Terror. New Hibernia Review (forthcoming).
- “Luddism’s Lessons.” International Journal of the Humanities 3, no. 9 (2006).
- “Anti-Intelligentsia Sentiment in the Soviet Union in the 1920s.” Slovo 12 (2000): 32-50.
- “Rethinking Stalinism.” Review of Sheila Fitzpatrick, Everyday Stalinism. Modern Greek Studies Yearbook 14/15 (1998/99): 445-52.
- “Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (1917-1991).” Women’s Studies Encyclopedia, edited by Helen Tierney, 1431-1434. Greenwood Press, 1999.

Papers

- “The Appeal of Karl May for Nineteenth-Century Germans: A Fear of Modernity Assuaged through Romantic Contemplation of the Noble Savage.” 33rd Annual European Studies Conference, University of Nebraska at Omaha, October 2008
- “Stalinism Reconsidered.” 42nd Annual Northern Great Plains History Conference, Duluth, MN, October 2007
- “A Vision of the Apocalypse: Anti-Modernism in Margaret Atwood’s Oryx and Crake.” 31st Annual Women’s Studies Conference, Madison, WI, April 2007
- “Luddism’s Lessons.” Third International Conference on New Directions in Humanities, Cambridge, England, August 2005
- “On-line Education and Women: Blessing or Curse?” 27th Annual Women’s Studies Conference, Madison, WI, November 2002
- “Online Teaching: The Juggernaut of the Computer Age Rolls Over Academia.” International Popular Culture Conference, Cambridge, England, August 2001
- “Minnesota Transfer Curriculum Faculty: Online Course Showcase.” MnSCU Best Practices in Teaching with Technology Conference, Minneapolis, April 2001
- “Defining Feminism: Expectations of Soviet and Post-Soviet Women in a Historical Perspective.” 25th Annual Women’s Studies Conference, Madison, WI, October 2000
- “Women’s Perceptions of Party, Society, and Comradship in the Early Years of the Soviet State.” 24th Annual Women’s Studies Conference, Platteville, WI, October 1999
- “Popular and Party Member Responses to Social Inequality in the Soviet Union in the 1920s: The Intelligentsia as Scapegoat.” Northern Great Plains History Conference, St. Cloud, MN, 1999
- “‘Sucking the Blood of the Workers’: Anti-Intelligentsia and Anti-Bourgeois Sentiment in Citizens’ Letters to Stalin in the 1920s.” American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies Convention, Seattle, November 1997
- “The Intelligentsia and Self-Esteem.” Midwest Russian History Workshop, Chicago, October 1997
- “Deja Vu: Fin de Siècle Anxieties and the Death of the Female Body.” South Central Modern Language Association Conference, Dallas, October 1997
- “The Promise and Failure of the Collective in 1920s Soviet Union.” Northern Great Plains History Conference, La Crosse, WI, September 1996
- “Permanent Revolution: A Study of Party Rank-and-File Responses to Social Inequality in the Soviet Union in the 1920s.” Northern Great Plains History Conference, St. Paul, September 1994

Faculty Involvement

- University of St. Thomas: UST Sustainability Pioneers
- Anoka-Ramsey Community College: Curriculum Meet and Confer;
Subcommittee, Review of MN Transfer Curriculum; Global Studies Initiative

Other Experience

1997-present Assistant Editor, Modern Greek Studies Yearbook
University of Minnesota, Modern Greek Studies
1993-1998 Educational Assistant, Minneapolis Public Schools, Minneapolis, MN

Awards and Fellowships

Nominated Member, Delta Epsilon Sigma, 2008
Research Scholarship, American Council of Teachers of Russian, spring 1995
Research Fellowship, Center for the Study of Russia and the Soviet Union, summer 1994
Graduate Fellowships, Brandeis University, 1987-1990
Middlebury College Scholarship, summer 1989

Professional Associations

Member, American Historical Association
Member, American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies