4.4 Uniforms, Badges and Credentials.

(a) General. Adjudications officers, unlike inspectors and officers of some other branches of the force do not work in a uniform. As officers, adjudicators are issued credentials which must be carried and presented as needed. Adjudications officers are expected to adhere to the basic grooming standards for officer corps personnel.

(b) Grooming Standards. Appearance is a critical part of forming a favorable impression with the public. The adjudications officer. The Officers' Handbook, A Guide for Proper Conduct and Relationships with the General Public, M-68, (revised 1981) governs the conduct, appearance, and grooming standards of all officers. Pages 16 and 17 of the Officers' Handbook cover grooming standards for all USCIS officers.

(c) Badges and Credentials. Every USCIS officer is issued a shield (badge) and credentials for identification. Officers are responsible for these items and need to safeguard them against possible theft or loss. See AM 5.2 for further information.
