From the Director of Graduate Studies

Hi everyone:

Exciting news! The University of St. Thomas and the Minneapolis Institute of Arts will be co-hosting the Midwest Art History Society Annual Conference. Sessions will be held at various locations in the Twin Cities (including our St. Paul campus!) on March 26-28, 2015. MAHS is a very important professional organization, and, as you can imagine, coordinating such a large event requires a lot of energy. However, it is such a wonderful opportunity to meet with professionals in the field from the Twin Cities and throughout the Midwest. I can’t possibly overstate how important this is for you as graduate students who seek to develop professionally. I would like to ask everyone to mark these dates on your calendars now and plan to attend and participate.

Please see the Call for Papers attached to this email, which was produced under the leadership of Andy Barnes and Craig Eliason. You’ll see that in addition to thematic sessions, there are open sessions on a variety of topics, many chaired by UST faculty. I encourage you all to submit an abstract. Have you worked on a seminar paper that you’d like to develop further? Or perhaps you have a paper that is ready for prime time? Working on a QP topic that you’d like to share with a broader audience? Please consult with your advising faculty and/or with me and prepare your abstract for submission.

All of the art history faculty and staff are hard at work to make this event possible. There will be a call for volunteers to provide assistance in many capacities—there are great opportunities for professional development and networking here. I will provide more details on volunteer opportunities as the event approaches.

Art Attack 2014 at the Northrup King Building
November 7-9, 2014

Minneapolis, MN – October 19, 2014 – The 17th annual Art Attack offers up the widest array of art to date. The Northrup King Building’s 250 visual artists join forces with musicians, writers, installation and interactive artists for a free weekend of engaging art experiences.

Poet Sheila Packa and sound artist Kathy McTavish present “Night Train Red Dust”, an interactive cross-media work that explores immigrants, mining, labor history and women, stories of travel and derailment on the Iron Range.

Friday evening Nighttime Post, presented by Erin Lavelle and Tony Chapin, will be hand-delivering messages from citizen to random citizen, illuminating the bond between strangers. Nighttime Post was presented at Northern Spark 2014 with the support of Northern.Lights.mn.

Saturday features MN Original at Art Attack. Twenty of the Northrup King Building visual artists featured on MN Original will be showing work in the gallery throughout the day. International recording artist and soul singer, Timotha Lanae, will play in the early afternoon. Revolver literary arts organization will join in for the evening with A Movable Corpse, a participatory traveling Exquisite Corpse detective story game.

Throughout the weekend author, Tom Combs, will be available with his new book, Nerve Damage. John Ebert will be exhibiting Determination, the culmination of 22 months of making a map of the United States out of 24,204 pennies. Music will be scattered throughout the building all weekend.

Dates and Times:
- Friday, November 7th 5:00-10:00 pm
- Saturday, November 8th Noon – 8:00 pm
- Sunday, November 9th Noon – 5:00 pm

Location: Northrup King Building, 1500 Jackson Street NE, Minneapolis, MN

This is a free event with free parking. Food trucks are available for guest convenience.

For more information about the 250 visual artists and the special exhibits and events taking place during Art Attack 2014, go to www.northrupkingbuilding.com/artattack, e-mail info@northrupkingbuilding.com or call (612) 363-5612.
Art Exhibits at Luther Seminary

Looking Back/Looking Forward: An Exhibit Exploring Art and Spirituality in the Work of Mark Roberts and James Quentin Young
September 15 – November 21, 2014

Reception: 4-6 p.m. Panel Discussion with the artists: 4:30 p.m. Luther Seminary, Olson Campus Center

Mark Roberts and James Quentin Young are well known Twin Cities-based artists working in a variety of media, from found object assemblage to varieties of photographic technique. The two artists each knew of the other’s work, and both were intrigued by each other’s exploration of spiritual themes in non-traditional ways. This is the first time they have held a joint exhibit. Using the central Christian symbol of the cross as a starting point, both artists stretch the viewer’s understanding of spirituality as interpreted by their often challenging work.

Re-Imagining Sacred Spaces and Objects of Devotion: An Exhibit by Mark Roberts and Denise Rouleau

Campus Location: Olson Campus Center
Open Hours: Olson Campus Center hours

Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota

We welcome your participation in the 2015 Midwest Art History Society Annual Conference held in Minneapolis and St. Paul, MN on March 26–28. Thematic and open sessions are listed below. In most cases, conference presentations will be expected to be under twenty minutes long. Proposals of no more than 250 words and a two-page CV should be emailed to the chairs of individual sessions.

Please see the attached document (2014 Fall MAHS CFP) for all details about the conference and Call for Papers.

Deadline for submissions: Friday, November 21, 2014.
Picturing Mary: Woman, Mother, Idea
The Catholic University of America and the National Museum of Women in the Arts
March 20-21, 2015
Washington, D.C.

The Catholic University of America’s School of Arts and Sciences, School of Theology and Religious Studies, and the University Honors Program invites paper proposals for an interdisciplinary graduate student conference to explore the influence of the Virgin Mary and her image through time. The conference seeks to attract papers that draw on various approaches to the subject, including art history, history, music, literature, theater, and theology. Advanced undergraduate students are also encouraged to apply. Participants will be asked to limit their presentations to a maximum of 20 minutes, so as to leave ample time for discussion.

A limited number of competitive travel grants will be available to successful applicants, and registration for the conference is free of charge.

The opening day of the conference will be held at the National Museum of Women in the Arts, and will feature a keynote address by renowned medieval historian Dr. Miri Rubin, Professor of Medieval and Early Modern History at the University of London. The second day of the conference will be held on the campus of The Catholic University of America.

Paper proposals should include an abstract of no more than 300 words, your name, email address, institutional affiliation, and academic standing. Completed proposals should be emailed to corcoranvr@cua.edu no later than October 31, 2014. Successful applicants will be notified by November 26, 2014.

For further information, please contact: Vanessa Corcoran at corcoranvr@cua.edu.
“In the Same Boat”: British and American Visual Culture during the Second World War
May 8-9, 2015
Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut

On December 8, 1941, immediately following the declaration of the American entry into World War II, President Roosevelt telegraphed Prime Minister Churchill, “Today all of us are in the same boat with you and the people of the empire and it is a ship which will not and cannot be sunk.” This two-day conference in the Department of the History of Art at Yale University, to be held on the seventieth anniversary of VE-day, will investigate the textured relationship between war-time visual cultures of America and Britain. We will consider the cultural origins of the postwar political and economic bond which would come to be called the “special relationship,” and explore the various political and social pressures that shaped image-making in the two countries. Certainly, the nations’ territorial autonomy during the war distinguished their experience of war from that of other allied powers. This conference will focus on the visual cultural exchange between the two countries, identifying parallels between the way images and culture were politically mobilized and influenced by the social impacts of war itself.

We welcome papers on art, print and graphic media, photography and film in the United States and/or United Kingdom between 1939 and 1945. Possible topics may include, but are not limited to, the following:

• The artist as eyewitness
• Realism and/or documentary
• Propaganda film
• Institutional and political patronage
• Strategic imaging: aerial photography, camouflage, reconnaissance
• Abstraction and representation
• Visual and sonic responses to war
• Maritime art and imagery
• War landscapes
• Popular geography and artistic production
• Discourses on sovereignty and global responsibility
• Transatlantic information/cultural exchange and dialogue
• Affect and trauma
• War commemoration and historical memory

Keynote speakers for the conference are Cécile Whiting, University of California at Irvine, and David Alan Mellor, University of Sussex. Please submit your CV and paper abstract (not to exceed 500 words) to inthesameboat2015@gmail.com by November 17, 2014. Conference organizers: Eric M. Stryker (Southern Methodist University), Tatsiana Zhurauliova (University of Chicago), and Sophie Lynford (Yale University).
The Museum of Russian Art
Interdisciplinary Student Research Symposium
February 21, 2015
St. Mary’s University, Minnesota

The Museum of Russian Art (TMORA) and a consortium of Minnesota colleges and universities invite undergraduate and graduate students to take part in an Interdisciplinary Student Research Symposium to be held at TMORA on Saturday, February 21, 2015. Recent participants have represented Macalester College, St. Mary’s University of Minnesota, the University of Minnesota, the University of Northwestern - St. Paul, and St. Olaf College.

This symposium will take place in connection with the museum’s exhibit Life on the Edge of the Forest: Russian Traditions in Wood. This exhibit will focus on the vernacular tradition of Russian woodworking, integrated into a broader theme of the Russian forest.

The symposium is open to students in any field with an interest in the culture of Russia, including but not limited to history, art, literature, theater, and dance. Participants should prepare a 15-minute presentation on their research or creative work. Student work should relate to Russian culture and the themes of this exhibit, but this connection can be broadly defined. Comparative research is encouraged. Students are welcome to propose their own topics after consulting with faculty at their institution. A list of possible topics and themes is provided below to help generate ideas – but feel free to explore your own interests!

Possible themes:
- The forest as resource, environment, and cultural object
- The woods as a setting of folktales, poetry, or novels
- Botanical artists, such as Alexander Viazmensky
- Paintings by Vladimir Stozharov and the “village” movement
Negotiating Spectacle
Saturday, March 7, 2015
Tufts University, Medford, Massachusetts

It has been almost 50 years since Guy Debord wrote The Society of the Spectacle and thinkers after him have given various iterations of the influential concept of spectacle. Can we extend those arguments regarding the role of spectacle in the creation (or destruction?), dissemination, consumption of visual culture from antiquity to the present? How does spectacle negotiate between entertainment and mass distraction, education and propaganda, or globalism and alienation? The 2015 Tufts University Art History Graduate Symposium invites participants to consider how critical theory shapes historical interpretations of spectacular objects in specific contexts. We encourage submissions that consider how individual artists or institutions use material and visual culture to manipulate audiences through spectacle, as well as the audience responses produced. Explorations in all media, geographic regions, and time periods are encouraged. Submissions that offer contributions to art history, visual culture, literature, cultural studies, and related fields are all welcome.

Paper topics may include, but are not limited to:
• Displays of capitalism, materialism, or commodity fetishism (e.g. art market/auctions, international art fairs)
• The role of spectacle in time-based mediums such as performance and performance art, film, television, dance, and theater
• Politics of display or subversion of power and control
• Cult of relics, idols, mysticism, and fetishism of art objects
• Visual cultures of conquest and colonization (e.g. cabinets of curiosity or World’s Fairs)
• Exotic materials and their contextualization (e.g. ivory, gold, or silk)
• Globalism, global citizenship, and its discontents
• Reinterpreting phenomena of spectacle, gestalt, and aura in critical theory

We invite graduate students in art history and related disciplines to submit a 300-word abstract for a twenty-minute presentation, along with a current CV by October 31, 2014.

All applicants will receive notification of the committee’s decision by December 1, 2014.

All questions and submissions should be sent to tuftsartsymposium@gmail.com.
Cut and Paste: Crossing the Boundaries 2015
An Interdisciplinary Graduate Conference
March 27-28, 2015
Binghamton University

A multidisciplinary, multivocal academic conference with a global geographic and broad temporal reach, presented by the Art History Graduate Student Union at Binghamton University, State University of New York.

Keynote Speakers:
Andrés Mario Zervigón, Rutgers University
Kevin Hatch, Binghamton University

The phrase “cut and paste,” in its most fundamental definition, is the process of selecting and combining fragments. Inspired by an established commitment to critical research, this year’s conference aims to explore the assortment of thematic, methodological, and sociopolitical interpretations derived from the traditional concept of extracting and adhering.

The twenty-third annual Crossing The Boundaries Conference, hosted by the Art History Graduate Student Union at Binghamton University, invites submissions from any historical or disciplinary approaches that involve a literal or conceptual appropriation achieved through cutting and pasting.

Potential topics might include (but are not limited to):

Collage, bricolage, assemblage, montage
Authorship, plagiarism, imitation
Censorship and editing
Fragments / Fragmentation
Cultural traditions and historical change
Recontextualization
Sociopolitical statements
Accumulation and composites of found objects
Invention or production through appropriation

Proposals for individual papers (20 minutes maximum) should be no more than 250 words in length and may be sent by email, with a current graduate level CV, to binghamtonctb@gmail.com (Attn: Proposal). We also welcome proposals for integrated panels. Panel organizers should describe the theme of the panel and send abstracts with names and affiliations of all participants along with current CVs. A panel should consist of no more than three papers, each twenty minutes in length.

Deadline for submissions is January 30, 2015.
THE PAST IS PRESENT:
Nostalgia and Visual Culture
March 6, 2015

The Council of Graduate Art Historians at Arizona State University will be hosting its 9th Annual Art History Symposium on March 6, 2015.

Possible topics for paper submissions may include but are not limited to:
+ nostalgia, innocence, sentiment, youth, longing, homesickness
+ ideas of appropriation and reference points
+ looking back from the present/looking further back from the past
+ critique/purpose of nostalgia in visual culture
+ the notion of the present across cultures and time
+ reification of time, past or present
+ tradition, narration, melancholy
+ the simultaneity of time

CoGAH invites graduate students from all disciplines to submit abstracts for consideration. Abstracts should be no longer than 350 words for presentations up to twenty minutes in duration. Please include a CV and submit your materials to cogahASU@gmail.com by midnight on November 30, 2014. Announcement of the keynote speaker is forthcoming.

Internship Opportunities

Minneapolis Institute of Arts Internships

The Minneapolis Institute of Arts offers unpaid volunteer internships for individuals considering or pursuing careers in museum work. Candidates who have completed at least two years of college coursework and have relevant skills, interests, or experiences are eligible to apply. As a prerequisite for curatorial or education internships, candidates must have completed a minimum of three art history courses. Undergraduate, graduate, and post-graduate students or candidates who meet these minimum requirements may apply. Candidates need not be a current student.

“Completing this internship provided me with a great opportunity to explore the field. I enjoyed developing new and valuable skills, such as writing object labels, which will be displayed for visitors in the future. I also learned a lot from knowledgeable professionals about the objects our department curates. My project researching the Lakota winter count was engaging and gave me a way to make an important contribution to the Education and AOA departments.”
-- Jenny Tone-Pah-Hote Intern, Africa and the Americas

Internships may last from one to 12 months, with a minimum time commitment of 20 hours per week. Intern positions are typically project-oriented within a specific department. The program acquaints interns with various functions, programs, and departments of the museum. Students often arrange academic credit for their experience through their college or university.

Internship availability is determined by staff need and by the number of challenging intern projects. Past interns have worked in many museum departments, including Curatorial, Learning & Innovation, External Affairs, and Development.

For more information on museum careers, visit: www.aam-us.org/aboutmuseums/abc.cfm#careers

Interns may indicate particular areas of interest on the application form. Each department listed considers candidates for internships.

The application deadlines are:
- March 1 (summer internships beginning in May or June)
- June 1 (fall/winter internships beginning in September)

The application materials required are: the completed application form (PDF) and essay, a recent résumé, academic transcripts, and two letters of recommendation. Student copies of college transcripts are acceptable. Academic letters of recommendation are preferred.
All application materials should be submitted via e-mail. All materials must be received by the appropriate deadline. Please include your name and the application period to which you are applying in the e-mail message’s subject line. Letters of recommendation should be sent directly to internships@artsmia.org by the letter’s author.

United States Capitol Historical Society Fellowship
For Research on the Art and Architecture of The United States Capitol

This fellowship was established in 1986 to encourage and support research and publication on the art and architecture of the United States Capitol complex. It is funded by the United States Capitol Historical Society and jointly administered by the Architect of the Capitol. Fellows often share their knowledge at U.S. Capitol Historical Society annual symposia, and had their papers published by the Society.

Eligibility:
Graduate students enrolled in a degree program in art or architectural history, American history, or American studies and scholars with a proven record of research and publication may apply.

Research Topic:
The proposed topic must directly relate to some elements of art or architecture within the United States Capitol complex: the Capitol, the congressional office buildings, the Library of Congress buildings, the Supreme Court building, and the Botanic Garden. It may include studies of individual artists, architects, or other historical figures and forces. The research must draw on the resources of the Architect of the Capitol, including the architectural drawings, manuscripts, and reference collections, or material in the Library of Congress, National Archives, or other specific collections identified in the applicant’s proposal.

Selection:
Applications will be judged on the qualifications of the applicant, the significance of the topic, the degree of need for the proposed research, the feasibility of the research plan, and the likelihood that the research will lead to publication. The selection committee will be composed of the Curator and the Architectural Historian for the Architect of the Capitol and three representatives of the United States Capitol Historical Society. Outside reviewers may be drawn from the National Museum of American Art and the National Building Museum. The final selection will be approved by the President of the United States Capitol Historical Society and the Architect of the Capitol.

Final Report:
A brief report of accomplishments must be submitted to the Architect of the Capitol and to the United States Capitol Historical Society at the end of the fellowship period. Two copies of the final written paper and any resulting publications must also be submitted.

Terms:
Depending upon the scope of the proposal, the fellowship may be requested for a minimum of one month and a maximum of one year. The amount of the fellowship has been increased to $2,500 per month, up to a maximum of $30,000 for a full year. Each year, up to the $30,000 total may be given to one project or may be divided, depending upon the quality and scope of the applications received. It is expected that full time will be devoted to research during the tenure of the fellowship. Limited support services, including photocopying (but not typing), will be provided by the Curator’s Office of the Architect of the Capitol. Travel and research expenses are to be covered by the monthly stipend. Fellows are responsible for arranging their own housing and transportation.

Applications must include:
- A curriculum vitae
- Transcripts of graduate work (as appropriate)
- Two supporting letters (one from a graduate advisor where applicable)
- Dates for which the fellowship is requested, with estimated time period for each phase of the proposed research
- List of expected sources of income during the proposed period
- Research proposal (maximum 5 pages) justifying the importance of the topic to understanding the history of the art and architecture of the Capitol and detailing the relevant resources to be used in the records of the Architect of the Capitol, National Archives, Library of Congress, etc.

Important Dates:
Applications must be postmarked by March 15. (Letters of recommendation may arrive later but will be needed by the end of March for the evaluation process.) Applicants will be notified of the selection committee’s decision by April 30. The fellowship year begins on September 1 and ends on August 31.

MIA Volunteers Needed

The following message has been extended to all film lovers within our volunteer ranks of the MIA. Issued from The Film Society of Minneapolis/St Paul, simply google mspfilm.org for the additional details.

Greetings!

The Film Society of Minneapolis St. Paul is looking for some motivated and hard working year-round volunteers to help us in the administrative office. Please take a look at the information below if you're interested!

WHO WE ARE
The Film Society of Minneapolis St. Paul is Minnesota's foremost exhibitor of independent and international cinema, and a non-profit, membership-based organization. We exhibit movies 365 days a year at St. Anthony Main Theater and host the annual Minneapolis St. Paul International Film Festival, the largest film festival in the region. Visit us online at mspfilm.org.

YEAR-ROUND VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITY!
Now through April 2015.

WHAT WOULD I DO?
Currently, we need help mainly with cataloging the Film Society's archives and doing outreach, which is promoting each movies to specific audience in Twin Cities. You can also help us with film and funder research, administer memberships and create new membership materials, and much more!

WHEN WOULD I HELP?
Anytime between Monday-Friday at 10AM-6PM.

HOW MUCH TIME DO I NEED TO GIVE?
We have volunteers who commit 2 hours per week and some who commit 8 hours per week. In short, as much or as little time as you want!

WHAT DO I GET OUT OF IT?
Unique and transferable experience in an arts non-profit experience, connections with people who work in the film and film festival industry, and FREE MOVIES! Our ongoing volunteers receive access to all of the film society’s regular programming (with some exceptions, of course) throughout the year. We just LOVE our volunteers so much and we are really thankful to have them!
HOW DO I SIGN UP?
Simply respond to the email below and let us know what you’re most interested in helping with and your availability!

And if you’d like to get involved as a volunteer for the Minneapolis St. Paul International Film Festival, let us know!

Thanks very much and see you at the movies!
