Contributor Notes

John F. Desmond, professor of English at Whitman College, is the author of Risen Sons: Flannery O’Connor’s Vision of History and At the Crossroads: Ethical and Religious Themes in the Writings of Walker Percy and has also published articles on O’Connor, Percy, Greene, Malamud, Faulkner, and Seamus Heaney. He is the founder and president of the Walker Percy Society.

Emilie Griffin is a veteran of the business world and an established writer on the spiritual life. She has written nine books on such themes as conversion, prayer, retreat, and spiritual formation. Among these titles are The Reflective Executive: A Spirituality of Business and Enterprise and the recent Doors into Prayer: An Invitation. She lives and works in Alexandria, Louisiana.

John Haldane is currently professor of philosophy at the University of St. Andrews, Rooyden Davis Professor of Humanities at Georgetown University, and Stanton Lecturer in Divinity at the University of Cambridge. His next book will be An Intelligent Person’s Guide to Religion (Duckworth).

Dr. James Keating is associate professor of moral theology at the Pontifical College Josephinum, Columbus, Ohio. He received his Ph.D. in Roman Catholic theology from Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. His essays on Christian ethics and spirituality have appeared in Irish Theological Quarterly, Communio, Studies and Spirituality, Pro Ecclesia, and other journals. He is the coauthor of two books and author of three more, including Listening for Truth: A Life of Prayers and Virtue. Dr. Keating serves as editor of the Josephinum Journal of Theology (www.pcj.edu).
Contributor Notes

Mark S. Latkovic is associate professor of moral theology at Sacred Heart Major Seminary, where he has taught for twelve years. He received his M.A. in theology from The Catholic University of America and his S.T.L. and S.T.D. from the John Paul II Institute for Studies on Marriage and Family, where he was also a McGivney Fellow. His articles have appeared in a number of journals including The Catholic Faith, Homiletic & Pastoral Review, and the Josephinum Journal of Theology. He is currently the book review editor of the Linacre Quarterly. He is married and the father of four children.

Guy Mansini, O.S.B., is associate professor and chairman of the department of systematic theology, Saint Meinrad Seminary, St. Meinrad, Indiana. He was the host last year at Saint Meinrad of “Christian Distinctions and Theological Disclosures,” a symposium in honor of Msgr. Robert Sokolowski.

Mr. David Meconi, S.J., is a Jesuit Scholastic in the department of church history at the University of Innsbruck. He has published on the early Apologists, St. Augustine, and Dionysius the Areopagite. His current projects include examining the theology of deification in the early Church as well as a book on the Christian cento of Faltonia Proba.

Sandra Menssen is professor of philosophy at the University of St. Thomas and coeditor of Logos. She is currently working on a book with Thomas D. Sullivan titled The Agnostic Inquirer: Rethinking the Question of Revelation (forthcoming from Ashgate Publishing).

Russell Pannier is professor of law at the William Mitchell College of Law. He has published articles in the areas of philosophy of logic, metaphysics, ethics, jurisprudence, and constitutional law. He is currently working on a book on St. Thomas Aquinas with Thomas D. Sullivan and Jeremiah Reedy (De Ente et Essentia: An Introduction to Aquinas’s Basic Ontology).

Thomas D. Sullivan is professor of philosophy at the University of St. Thomas, where he holds the Aquinas Chair in Philosophy and Theology, and is an associate editor of Logos. He is currently working on a book with Sandra Menssen titled The Agnostic Inquirer: Rethinking the Question of Revelation (forthcoming from Ashgate Publishing), and on one with Russell Pannier and Jeremiah Reedy (De Ente et Essentia: An Introduction to Aquinas’ Basic Ontology).

Michael Torre is associate professor of philosophy at the University of San Francisco. He received his Ph.D, in philosophical and systematic theology from the Graduate Theological Union (Berkeley), specializing in the work of Aquinas. His main interest is in diverse aspects of Aquinas’s natural theology. He has published various articles and edited Freedom in the Modern World: Jacques Maritain, Yves R. Simon, Mortimer J. Adler (1989) for the American Maritain Association.

Johan Verstraeten is professor of moral theology at Katholieke Universiteit, Leuven, Belgium, where he teaches business ethics, Catholic social thought, and ethics of peace, war, and international relations. He is chairman of the European Ethics Network and cofounder of the International Association for Catholic Social Thought. His recent publications include Matter of Breath: Foundations for Professional Ethics and Catholic Social Thought: Twilight or Renaissance?