Racial Justice and Social Change: History, Culture, Transformation, and Healing in a Time of Crisis

A bibliography of texts produced by faculty of the American Culture and Difference program at the University of St. Thomas.

History

Culture

Lawrence, David Todd, and Elaine J. Lawless. When They Blew the Levee: Politics, Race, and Community in Pinhook, Mo. University of Mississippi Press, 2018.

Transformation/Teaching

Healing

Interviews
(with Paola Ehrmantraut)

Projects

http://enslaved.org/ (Faculty member Kari Zimmerman is a board member and contributing researcher) – a digital hub of collaborative research on the transatlantic slave trade, its suppression, and the lives of Africans and their descendants in the Atlantic World. Peer-reviewed research datasets are currently being prepared for publication on the site in August. In the meantime, we would encourage students, scholars & general public to check out the website to learn about the historical origins of contemporary race relations across the Americas. The website has research updates & a list of partnering digital-humanities projects that explore the history of the African diaspora (sites include data on enslaved & free blacks, images, maps, etc).