

External Link Policy

For the convenience of visitors to our site, the University of St. Thomas provides external links containing information that may be relevant to you. The University of St. Thomas has no control over and no responsibility or liability for the accuracy, quality, suitability, reliability or legality of these external sites or their owners, content, products or services, and providing these links does not constitute any kind of guarantee, approval or endorsement of any of them.