

PROJECT 2: CLIMATE RESILIENCY WORKSHOPS

COURSE INSTRUCTOR

Salvatore Pane, Environmental Writing and
Community Outreach (ENGL 315)

OVERVIEW

- The Metropolitan Council is interested in engaging communities in conversations about climate change to understand perspectives on climate change and better assist cities with planning for climate resiliency.
- As part of this effort, the Metropolitan Council hosts “How to Address Climate Vulnerability in Your Community” workshops for city staff.
- Students will collaborate with the Metropolitan Council to analyze and synthesize themes from this workshop with cities to inform city engagement efforts around climate resiliency planning.

Earth, photographed by Apollo 17.
(Source: Wikimedia)