LARRY SMITH

Concert Organist

Larry Smith is Chairman of the Organ Department at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana. A concert organist of national reputation, he has performed solo recitals for three consecutive national conventions of the American Guild of Organists, as well as for churches and universities throughout the United States.

Dr. Smith began his musical studies at Guttenberg, Iowa with John G. Lammers. He was graduated in 1965 from Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa where he studied with Russell Saunders. He pursued his Master of Music degree at Syracuse University as a student of the late Arthur Poister. At the Eastman School of Music he studied with David Craighead and earned a Doctor of Musical Arts degree. He has also earned Eastman's prized Performer's Certificate in Organ and has coached with Russell Saunders.

Before his appointment to Indiana University in 1981, Dr. Smith served on the faculties of Kent State University, Kent, Ohio and Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina. He was appointed Chairman of the Organ Department at Indiana University in 1982. Larry Smith is married to Caroline Bradley Smith, an adjunct instructor of voice in the School of Music, DePauw University.
